Vincent T Joachim

Vincent T Joachim is a Canadian photographer who has a background in photojournalism and multimedia. He graduated from SAIT in 1999 with a Journalism Arts Diploma and graduated from AMTC in 2001 with a Multimedia Diploma.

Vincent's parents immigrated from Trinidad to Calgary Alberta, Canada, where he was born in 1977. He grew up in a large family and credits his imagination to his upbringing. All of his siblings are involved in the arts and have their own unique talent.

Recognized as an exceptional artist, Vincent was nominated to meet Michaëlle Jean, the Governor General of Canada in January 2007. His work has appeared in numerous publications such as Time magazine, Elle magazine, Flare magazine, Fame Magazine, Tanning Depot Product Guide, The Calgary Herald, and the Millennium Photo Project.

Vincent created "the Pursuit art gallery," a non profit organization designed to empower youth by teaching different art forms such as photography. In February 2008, he taught photography to a group of youth in Gonzales, Trinidad. The successful project has yielded a traveling gallery show and a book with the youths work in it

Vincent is currently working on several photo projects that consistently keep him on a global trot. His past projects have taken him to San Francisco, New York, Trinidad & Tobago, and Ecuador just to name a few. His next 2 big projects will take him on a coast to coast voyage across Canada and a trek through Africa.

Vincent also likes to use his talents in other outlets such as design, working with the youth and writing movie scripts. One of Vincent's life goals is to travel to every continent in the world and take pictures. (5 to go!) He also wants to enter the Guinness book of world records for a photo project he plans to reveal in 2009.

Vincent's unique style and art of story telling makes his photography unforgettable.
